Verdict of the Jury-Held to Mercy of the Court The arguments in the trial of Wiley can were concluded this morning, On Saturday night District Attorney Land opened the prosecution. His argument was an able and convincing one, adducing from the testimony manifest proof of his position. He entered into his plea before the jury with much feeling and earnestness and impressed the jury and large audience with the fact that his argument was a capable one and deserving of the compliments he received later upon his effort.

S. A. D. Upton followed with a ten minutes talk, whereupon Attorney Hazzard claimed about three hours attention of the jury, going over the testimony in detail. He had a retentive memory of the testimony and argued his points with effect. This morning Attorney Hereford concluded the argument for the defease, making a strong and fical appeal for the prisoner and his tamily. Judge Barnes finished for the prosecution, making one of his usual forcible arguments and submitting the case to the jury after a telling argument of thirty minutes.

LATER-The jury this afternoon returned a verdict of murder in the second degree and recommending the prisoner to the mercy of the court.

Miss Annie Kane, the unfortunate girl who was committed to the incape asylum from this county about a year since, and who was discharged from that institution on Monday last, returned to Tombstone on Thursday. This morning Miss Kane attempted to commit suicide and at present writing is at death's door. Miss Kane bad been the guest of Mrs. Cy Farwell, wife of the wellknown blacksmith, and this morning when Mrs. Farwell called Miss Kane to breakfast she received no response. Investigation revealed the fact that the unfortumate girl had taken an overdose of morphine or cocaine, evidently with suicidal intent. Dr. Walter was immediately summoned and administered antidotes to counteract the oison but faint hopes are entertained for her recovery. Miss Kane did not eem to be melencholy the night before and announced her intention of going to Bisbee today. She left no word or note that she contemplated the rash act.
